THE PRESENT OUTLOOK.

Nature seems to be more in harmony with itself this springtime than is usual in an intermontane country at the altitude we occupy. It is true that John Frost has made some visits that were not intended to aid the fruit crop or benefit the tender shoots of an early spring; but these visits do not surprise the people, as they are more frequent than they are profitable in most of the years that come and go. Strange as it may seem, there is compensation even in nature for its seeming objection to the profit and happiness of the people.

The dry, light atmosphere at the altitudes of most of the valleys on the eastern slope, connected with modifying conditions, there are in nearness to coast influence aid in protecting tender growths from frost attacks that would cause all green things to take on a coat of mourning in the darkness and blackness of death in lower and more moist altitudes. When ice is formed on small bodies of still water an eighth to a quarter of an inch in thickness, it is expected that damage to the tender blossoms of an early spring will follow.

When there is remaining anything among the green things that nature has caused to grow as a response to tempting heat made by soft rays of a March sun, it is wonderful to the mind when attempting to look into the causes that operate upon each other and furnish to tender shoots of early plants and to more tender blossoms, protection.

The severe frosts that came in April after a mild and inviting March, have not destroyed all the fruit. There will be a fair crop in many places of the late varieties of apples and other fruits of more late classes and varieties. When there is taken in review the grasses, wild and domestic, it is learned there has not been a season for many years that gave such promise of a fine growth as the present gives to the stockmen and close farmer.

The ranges bloom in all the freshness of nature. Herbs and grasses in former years when compared with the growth of the present year, seem to have folded up and laid away their energy in a way that indicated they had quarreled with their environment and were refusing to clothe the hills and plains in colors and beauty.

The causes that have been active to bring forward the fine growth there is everywhere on the ranges were a mild winter, an early spring and sufficient moisture to stimulate action which had an awakening influence upon nature. The causes that gave to the ranges the growth force there is on the hills and plains have been doing a work upon the farms to the interest of the close farmer, and his meadows and alfalfa fields look as though nature was taking an outing in holiday attire. The farmer is in harmony with his meadows, crops, fields and herds, which may be seen without effort to any observer of nature's work. Nature is doing its work in a very satisfactory way to the farmer, the evidence of which satisfaction it has not failed to write upon his face, as it is now engaged in writing in beautiful outline upon the face of his fields and upon the hills and plains. Nature and man have shaken hands and are at peace with each other, which is typical of a better and higher life to man, and a future improved condition in nature. A review of the State and its now probable near future is encouraging to the people. There is a change which past conditions do not control, because it is not subject as yet to past environment. There is a duty upon each citizen of the State that calls for action by him that will accord with the freedom that nature is everywhere teaching him to maintain, that he may advance his condition in order that he may improve through liberty of action the blessings that the most beneficent government upon the earth has given to man. When good government becomes a part of the system in the State by which the rights of the individual citizen will be protected he will receive that respect at home and abroad which a good and true man should and will receive from true men wherever he is known.

The methods of the past should be placed with past conditions in the back ground and a new mode of proceedure that will correspond with a new order of things, should be substituted for the old system that will secure a future, that will place Nevada where it should be, possessed as it is, with an abundance of natural wealth in a front rank not only as an inducement to obtain wealth but to aid a realization of the hopes of those who may become in the future citizens of the commonwealth to secure a competance by aiding to develop the natural wealth of the richest State in the Union.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

It seems the Gazette has an axe to grind in some way by advocating the election of Dr. Thoma and Mr. Aitken as School Trustees. These gentlemen were selected by the Gazette and are its candidates.

The JOURNAL does not care to enter a contest for Trustees, but it would like to see fair play, under any circumstances. The evening paper has given out an impression that Mr. Novacovich is not elegible to office because he was not noticed in time to the clerk, as required by law, which is not true.

In its issue yesterday it stated that the gentlemen first named will be the men selected by the people, which is their business, and not the JOURNAL'S; but it is just to Mr. Novacovich to say that he has no axe to grind or other tool that needs an edge. He is a gentleman who is in every way worthy of the confidence of the people, and will make a good trustee if elected.

Death of Mrs. Murdock.

A lingering illness of three months' time resulted in the death of Mrs. Octavia Ella Murdock, a woman highly respected by all who knew her.

Mrs. Murdock came to Reno in 1892 as Mrs. Carr. She was married to Andrew Murdock June 1, 1898, and by that name was widely known. She leaves a husband and three children, by her former marriage, to mourn her loss. Mrs. Murdock was a native of Pope county, Illinois, and at the time of her death was aged 35 years, 10 months and 10 days. The date of her funeral will be announced in a later issue.

The Alumni Banquet.

Wit and mirth held sway at the annual banquet of the Alumni and faculty held Saturday afternoon. The Varsity dining hall was artistically decorated, and the tables so arranged that 120 guests could easily exchange the brilliant flow of repartee always forthcoming on this occasion.

A dainty menu appealed to the epicures of the gathered feasters, and appropriate toasts interspersed with quips and anecdotes, whiled away three profitably spent hours.

NEVADA ATHLETES ARE VICTORIOUS

They Score Fifty-nine Points, While the University of Utah Make a Total of Twenty-one.

Special to the JOURNAL.

SALT LAKE, May 26.—The Nevada University athletes defeated the athletes of the University of Utah on the latter's campus in this city this afternoon, winning seven out of ten events, and scoring 59 points to 21 for their opponents.

The Nevadans were in much better form than Utah, with more ease in their performance and from the start clearly showing their superiority, but the Utah boys were game to the last and made the Nevada blues work for everything they got. The Nevadas won the high jump, putting the shot, 880-yard run, hammer throw, broad jump, 440-yard run and pole vault, the Utah team winning the 100-yard dash, 50-yard dash and 220-yard dash.

A phenomenal record was made in the 100-yard dash—9 3:5 seconds, by Anderson of Utah, who also won the 220-yard dash in 24 seconds. Moorman of Nevada scored 42 feet, 8¼ inches in putting the shot, and on throwing the hammer C. C. Smith scored 110 feet, 2¼ inches.

The summaries are as follows: 100-yard dash—Anderson of Utah first, Moorman of Nevada second; time, 9 3-5. High jump—Ward of Nevada first, height 5 feet. 3 inches; Smith of Nevada second, 5 feet, 2 inches. 50-yard dash—Riser of Utah first, Anderson of Utah second; time 5¾. Putting shot—Moorman of Nevada first, 42 feet, 8¼ inches; Smith of Nev. second, 42 feet, 5 inches. 880-yard run—Case of Nevada first, Jameson of Nevada second; time 2:10 1-5. 220-yard dash—Anderson of Utah first, Moorman of Nevada second, 24. Hammer throw—C Smith of Nevada first, Moorman of Nevada second; 110 feet, 2¼ inches. Broad jump—F. Smith of Nevada first, Ward of Nevada second; 20 feet, 2 inches. 440-yard run—Keddie of Nevada first, B. Smith of Nevada second; time, 53 4-5. Pole vault—Richards of Nevada first, 10 feet, 3 inches.

Last night the long looked for "Owl" reception took place. The big airy rooms were thronged with visitors and every one went away pleased with what they saw. In connection with the bar-room there is a commodious apartment devoted to roulette, faro and card tables. A grand piano and violin manipulated by clever artists entertained music loving patrons.

The lunch spread during the evening approached a banquet in description. Brearley & Uniack, the proprietors of "The Owl" made many friends at this opening of theirs, and as it will be conducted by Mr. Brearley, the "square" sport, its success is assured.

Slumming in Reno.

A party of ladies, guided by Constable Leeper, did Chinatown one day last week. Kodaks were taken in tow and this aroused the celestials' suspicions.

"No talkee; no likee machine box," was the answer issued from all the Chinamen questioned. A few pictures were snapped of Chinatown's unimposing buildings; no amount of coaxing could induce the fond mama of the only China baby in town to allow her child's picture to be taken.

Slumming parties should carry kodaks in their pockets if the desire to succeed in interviewing heathens.

Early Morning Fire.

At 1:15 this morning the fire bell pealed out its warning note. Before the engine arrived upon the scene, a bucket brigade quenched the nicely burning wooden structure occupied by Sam Lee, a Chinese laundryman. The property belongs to the Hoffman estate, it is located back of the Palace Hotel. Damages were very trifling.

Chicken Dinner.

The usual excellent Sunday dinner will be served at the Golden Eagle hotel today. Chicken and all the side dishes. Don't forget the time—4:30 this afternoon.

Heathens—Two Tribes.

Down by the Riverside, east of the iron bridge, the Indians met in many numbers Saturday afternoon to play a "hand game," Piutes on one side Washoes on tother. The game is not highly instructive, but quite amusing to spectators. The two tribes line up facing each other. The gyrations and contortions that convulse the redmen resemble a snake dance on an abbreviated scale. The players hold sticks in their hands, two of which are indentified by twine wrapped around them These are shuffled from hand to hand, concealed from their opponents' sight. If the Piutes hold the sticks, a Washoe guesses which individual has the marked ones; when the guess is correct his side gets a couple of sticks. After one side gains all the sticks the jack-pot belongs to them, and in high jinks they straightway indulge.

Youths with Firearms.

Five or six youngsters, three dogs and as many guns went for an outing Saturday. The party came to grief—which is not an unheard of happening when such an aggregation sallies forth in search of amusement.

The guns were real live fire arms and in the course of the day's shooting, a bullet from a 22 rifle came in contact with young Johnny Boyd's thigh. The wound is very painful, but not serious; however, it is but a repetition of that old warning carelessly unheeded by over indulgent parents.

T. H. P. O. Enjoy a Spread.

The mysterious fraternity of T. H. P. O. made merry last night in the dining halls of the Arcade. Covers for twenty-five were laid, and as none but fratres banqueted, no particulars could be gained outside of the fact that long was the time spent and elaborate the feast partaken of by the T. H. P. O.

Man's Best Friend.

Harry Clausen owns a dog that answers to the name of 'Jim"—not the two legged Jim, who smiles and smiles as he yells "ham and eggs" to the cook, but the 175 pound quadruped who traces his geneology back through an ancient line of regal English mastiffs.

The other day Jim and a wheelman collided, to the detriment of the latter's mount. Harry told the cyclist to take his wheel around to the hospital and have the doctor's bill charged to him. Since then Jim gazes up and down Commercial Row for silent steeds before he ventures across the thoroughfare.

Where to Dine.

The Washoe Lunch Counter will serve an extra fine dinner to-day. Harry Clausen is tireless in his efforts to tickle the palates of his patrons.

A Good Word About Olinghouse

Mr. W. Golding, a business man of Wadsworth, speaks in the following glowing terms of his neighborhood:

At Olinghouse every miner works his claims, not living on mere hopes in the meanwhile, but digging out rock which pays, and pays well. A Kinkead mill is daily looked for, and will be set up in White Horse mining district. This mill is a much needed institution, and those having pay dirt, gold quartz, or good ore will have a wider margin of profits to pocket than heretofore. Three tons of ore were run through the stamp mill at Olinghouse this week and netted the lucky miner $1,000. Other samples went all the way from six to sixty-four dollars.

Wadsworth is the source from which all the miners' supplies are purchased, and in consequence the busy railroad town is financially bettered.

Mr. Golding informed us that Wadsworth had a monthly pay roll of from $16,000 to $18,000, all paid in by Uncle Collis. No concern is felt by the citizens of Wadsworth about C. P. Huntington's trip to Keeler.

A Complaint.

From the south side of the river comes a complaint, registered by indignant residents. There seems to exist an organized gang of young hopefuls who insist upon annoying the house holders.

Their method is characteristic of American brats in its being quite orignal. They have rigged up screechwhirl-i-gigs and attract the attention of peaceful citizens by throwing gravel and rocks against the houses, then twirling these fiendish sounding "screechers," much to the terror of unprotected women. Names of these offenders, although known, will not be mentioned, but it would be wise for them to desist.

A Souvenir.

George Cheek, the Riverside's popular clerk, was presented with a small piece of paper, the very first product of the Floriston pulp and paper mills. Mr. Butler, who came in from Floriston yesterday, handed this little scrap of paper to George.

This means that operations will begin in earnest at the big plant up the river almost immediately, and Mr. Cheek's sample of paper will soon be one tiny atom in a whole world of paper.
